Training with the M-14, with which he shot 233 of a possible 250 to qualify as sharpshooter, Stevens receives advice from a determined drill instructor.

Standing in line to receive their training.

Since he was 14 years old and a graduate of San Ramon High School in Danville, California, Frank W. Stevens wanted to join the Marine Corps.

At the time, however, he was in a residential program at Donah Valley College, Concord, Calif., continuing his education and business activities in the area. He married a girl by Sacramento girl, moved to McLean, Va., and kept in the attempt to become a Marine.

His problem, as stated in the Supreme Court Justice Eugene W. Tamm, Jr., was that he was not a high school graduate and did not have the necessary qualifications.

Judge W. Tamm, Jr., the president of the Supreme Court, U.S. Representative James E. Eastman, Jr., reviewed the case thoroughly. The matter was finally decided in Congress, and the 21-year-old, 21-year-old man was assigned to the Marine Corps as a private in the 1st Marine Division, 1st Marine Division, 1st Marine Division.

He underwent a rigorous training program. His first assignment was to be assigned to the 1st Marine Division, 1st Marine Division, 1st Marine Division. He was assigned to the 1st Marine Division, 1st Marine Division, 1st Marine Division.

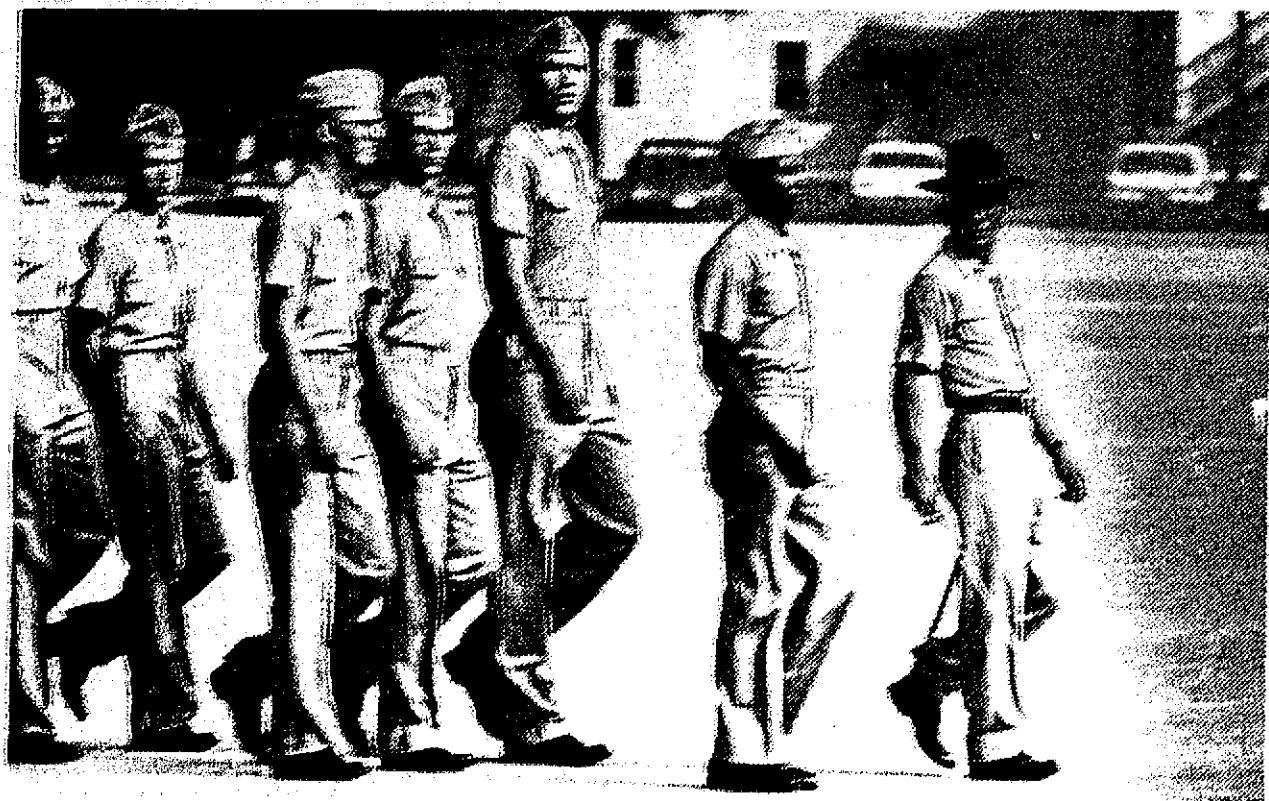

The first assignment of the same time was to be assigned to the 1st Marine Division, 1st Marine Division, 1st Marine Division. He was assigned to the 1st Marine Division, 1st Marine Division, 1st Marine Division.

When graduation day, Stevens was assigned to the 1st Marine Division, 1st Marine Division, 1st Marine Division. He was assigned to the 1st Marine Division, 1st Marine Division, 1st Marine Division.

The Marine Corps is a very tough organization.

Standing in line, Stevens has his helmet adjusted by one of his drill instructors, Sgt. J. L. Coach.

The new Marine waits for clothing issue while a clerk looks on.

The Marine's size is mighty small to the big trainee.

YOUTH ASKED FOR IT!

This column is for young people, their problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help Us!, it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush off.

Send your teenage questions to YOUTH ASKED FOR IT, care of Helen Help Us! this newspaper.

DON'T JUDGE ALL BY A FEW, SHE BEGS

Dear Helen: I am a 16-year-old high school junior who is sick to the point of no return with the way my generation is run down, belittled and treated like dust.

We are criticized unceasingly for the sins of the hippies and drug users and delinquents. If adults would only look around and see for themselves that most kids are "straight," they'd stop believing all the hokied-up stuff they're reading constantly.

The condition of our world is not due to the faults of any one generation and it never will be. Why can't people wake up and see that the intelligent, interested youths far outnumber the bad ones? These are the ones who will be the leaders of tomorrow, not the hippies and kooks they worry about so much. We need praise and encouragement!

I wonder if our accusers have so little faith in their ability to raise and educate their children that they must blame us for their failures. I pity them, and thank God for the few adults who DO understand us and are interested enough to help. — SANDI

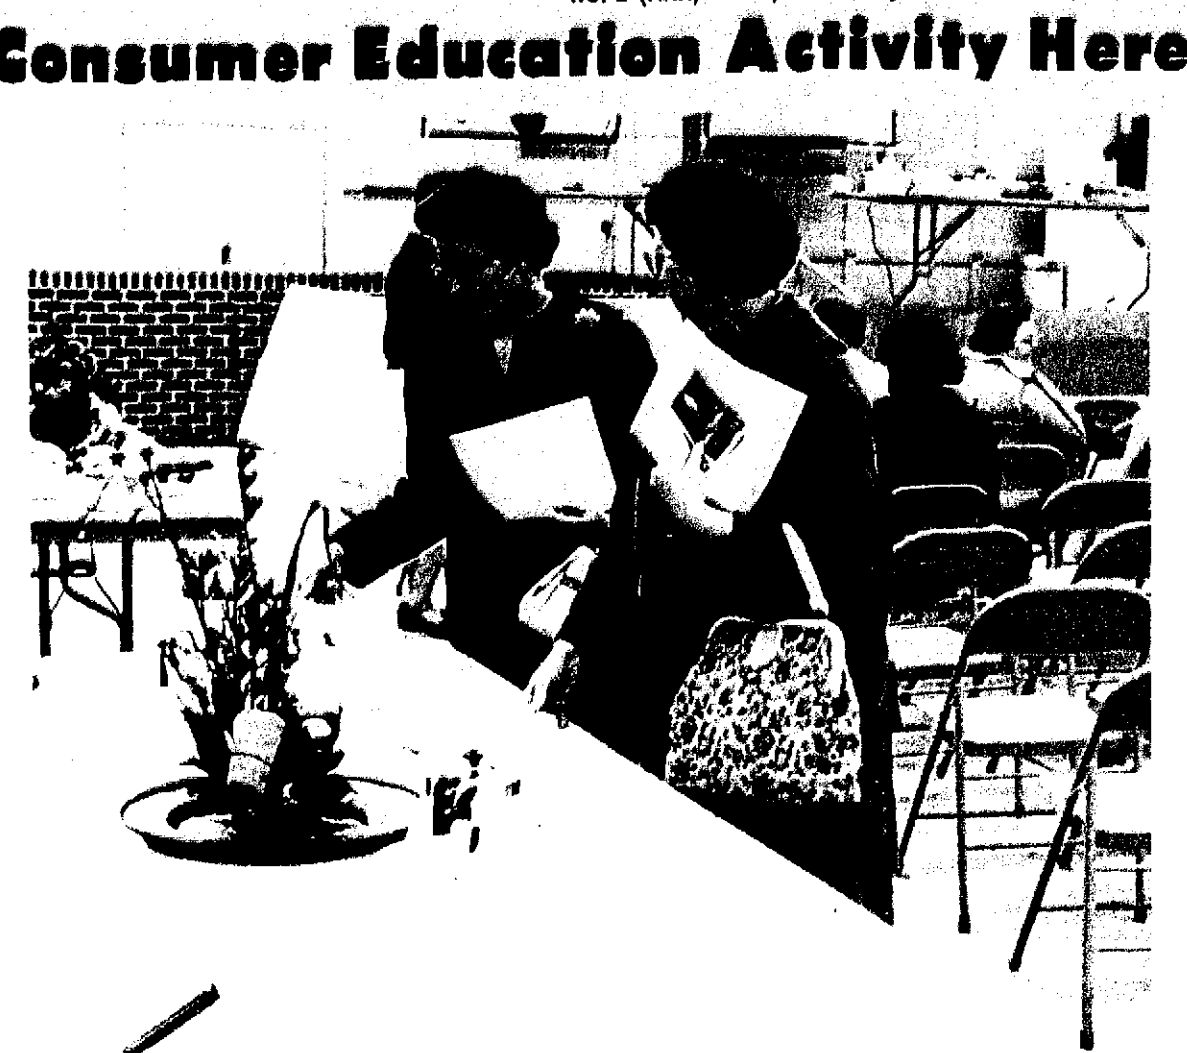

Dear Sandi: Let's put it this way: your generation is the most dissected, picked-at, worried over, and written-about of any young generation in history, mostly because we are in an age of instant communication and rebellious youth makes big news.

But the majority of adults are as sensible as the majority of teenagers. We know most of you are aimed in the right direction, and we are quietly helping you get there.

The trouble is: just as wild youth makes the headlines, those who scream "ALL kids are no good!" make the most noise. Sometimes I think if we'd stop reading, writing, and listening to exaggerated scare talk, the kooks would crawl back in the woodwork. But then think how dull newspapers and magazines would be! — H

Dear Helen: This is in answer to those kids who have someone special but don't want to be tied down by going steady. My girl and I felt the same way. We cared very much for each other, although neither wanted to close ourselves off. She needed to meet other guys, and I other girls.

We finally hit on a solution. We are now "collective." It's like

Mrs. James Laughard and Mrs. Elaine Burtch examine pyroceram utensils at Consumer Education Activity. Pyroceram was explained by specialist to be a by-product of the space program, from the nose cone of the missile. Pyroceram was described as not buckling, warping, or crazing, will withstand extreme temperature changes and is easy to clean. However, it is heavy, has slow heat transfer, heat is not readily distributed over the surface and it tends to have hot spots when used in top-of-range cooking.

Mrs. Hazel Castle, Mrs. Joe Barham and Mary Alice Moody examine decorative porcelain steel utensils and magnalite at Consumer Education Activity. Extension Home Management Specialist described desirable features of Magnalite (cast aluminum) as being an even heat conductor, quick heat conductor, holds heat well, light and durable, and easy to clean. However, it scratches slightly and is more expensive. The decorative porcelain finish shown is fused to a thicker gauge steel.

Display was furnished by Lehman's Home Center and decorations provided by Rose Garden Club.

Mrs. Troy Burson, Mrs. Denzil Ross, Mrs. Roy Fry, and Mrs. Lester Sitzes examine display of teflon utensils at Consumer Education Activity. Teflon was defined by Extension Specialist as being a fluorocarbon plastic finish applied to non-stick cooking utensils. It is impregnated into metal and offers a more lasting quality.

Specialist offered a suggested solution for cleaning darkened teflon as 1/2 cup household bleach and 2 cups water. Simmer about 15 minutes in utensils. She said teflon is not dangerous in home circumstances.

Display was furnished by LaGrone - Williams Hardware. Table was decorated by Rose Garden Club.

THE NATIONAL REPORT ON WHAT'S HAPPENING

Help for Parents: Parents are really pretty good people. Sometimes they need your help, not just your "opposition." Particularly when they are caught in a "Don't do as I do, do as I say" kind of a bind.

This can be upsetting, even confusing, but keep in mind that you, too, will have your shot at being a parent. In the interest of a fair shake for you, mentally trade places and see how your attitude measures up! One big area where parents need HELP is sex education. Not their own—you! You can help them help you by bringing the subject to the living room discussion state. Give 'em a chance to criticize and add to your school curriculum on the subject. Help them get on your wave length. It's a two-way street.

Vanessa Living Down Reputation: The queenly elegant Vanessa Redgrave hopes to live down a former reputation as an antiwar marcher and public speaker in Hyde Park, London. Why? Says once you're dumped in that bag, nobody listens to you any more.

Lovcraft Nightowls Sound: New rock group with a difference—H. P. Lovecraft—chooses the witching hours between 11 p.m. and 5 a.m. to practice their music. Claim it's quieter than... for whom?

Scent Sense: Now that some teens insist on misusing every available inhalant for "kicks" other teens still advocate sniffing perfume—not for hallucinogenic or psychedelic effects but for the sheer joy of the fragrant aroma! Some advocate using vanilla extract for a positively haunting cologne.

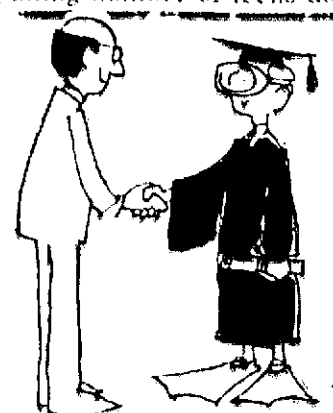

Truth or Trickery in TV: A Los Angeles television station angered students at Claremont Men's College in California by bringing its own "protest" signs for the taping of a public affairs special. Seems as if youth can't escape notoriety—real or created.

Zippo Flipper: Right in the teeth! A couple of drops of baby oil keeps things meshing smoothly.

Tape Escape: New trick for would-be so-so sewers—put together fashion firsts with new paper material and double-faced adhesive tape. Water repellent and smooth-looking anyone can do it!

More TV Jitters: Since 94 out of every 100 homes in America now have television sets, teens wonder why, why, why it doesn't reflect what's happening in the country a tad more accurately.

Learn to Swim Week: An appalling number of teens do not learn to swim. Keep putting it off until they become a death by drowning statistic. A suggestion: Ask your four best friends if they need swimming "help." In turn have them ask four other friends. We suggest starting "Swimming Anonymous" clubs aimed at a 100 per cent waterborn graduation class in your high school. YWCA and YMCA will welcome the effort. Proof of ability to swim should be a requisite for a high school diploma. As fundamental as driver education

An old favorite utensil, cast iron, is being examined by Mrs. Elaine Burtch, Mrs. James Laughard, Mrs. Cora Jamison, and Mrs. Steve Carrigan at Consumer Education Activity. Extension Specialist described desirable features of cast iron as that it heats evenly, holds heat well, durable, inexpensive. Cast iron limitations are that it is heavy, brittle, tends to rust if not cared for and heats slowly. Cast iron may be "seasoned" to prevent sticking by applying unsalted fat and hating in a 250 degree F. oven for two hours.

Display was furnished by Western Auto and decorated by Rose Garden Club.

Marcene Abbott, Mrs. Dub Flowers, Mrs. J. T. Honeycutt, Mrs. Steve Carrigan, and Mrs. Bob Lewis examine aluminum utensils at Consumer Education Activity. Extension Specialist described desirable features of aluminum as being an even heat conductor, quick heat conductor, light and durable and will not rust. Limitations given were that it discolors from alkaline foods, scratches easily, may pit from salt, hard water, or food particles left in pan. Specialist advised avoiding thin gauge aluminum.

The specialist said there is no scientific basis for the idea that aluminum pans are injurious to health. Alkaline in water and detergents will cause aluminum to turn dark. Cooking of acid foods will, therefore, brighten aluminum. Pitting looks undesirable but is not harmful.

Thermally statically controlled burners or units on ranges are calibrated to operate with medium weight aluminum utensils. For successful operation homemaker may need to modify setting for other utensils.

Oklahoma Tire and Supply furnished club aluminum display and the Rose Garden Club decorated display.

SMALL MEASURE

Of all things — a man measuring his religion with an eye-dropper. An eye-dropper is used to administer small doses of medicine but it is not proper in the realm of religion. The mercy of God is an ocean divine, a boundless and fathomless deep. An eye-dropper is much too small to convey riches so abundant. How unfortunate is that life that will attempt to take the bounties of God with an eye-dropper. Yet, there are those among us who are satisfied with second-hand religion... the kind a man gets when he attempts to let his wife do his church-going for him. God seeks to talk to all of us direct. Mister, He doesn't want your wife delivering yours via the eye-dropper. Go to church... listen to the Divine voice of God as He seeks to pour His infinite grace and goodness into your soul. Don't be satisfied with such small measure... an eye-dropper full.

One way to be a really successful fisherman is to learn to think like a fish. The way to be a really successful defensive player is to learn to think like the declarer.

South didn't like to keep rebidding his five card heart suit, but the game was rubber bridge and he had 100 honors. Furthermore, once he got started he never got a real chance to quit.

He won the club lead with his jack and decided his best play would be to take the spade finesse, so he led a spade and finessed dummy's queen at trick two. Then he discarded a diamond on the ace of spades and ruffed a spade with his ten of trumps.

West overruffed and played ace and eight of diamonds. East was in with the queen and noted that South had dropped the nine on that second diamond lead.

This was an automatic correct false-card. West could hold the seven of diamonds. He couldn't hold the nine because he would have led it.

It was up to East to make the correct play at this point. If West held the missing diamond, East's only hope would be to lead his last spade and hope that it would produce a trump trick for his partner.

As you can see, the diamond play sets the contract. The spade lead allows South to ruff, draw trumps and get rid of his last diamond on a spade.

How did East figure out that the diamond play was correct? He thought like the declarer. It was rather apparent that South started with nine red cards. If six were hearts and headed by ace-king, South would simply have played ace-king of trumps.

Today's QUESTION: You had three diamonds. West had four clubs. Your partner had four diamonds and East five clubs. What do you do now?

Poor Fitting Dentures Can Cause Gagging

By WILLIAM LAWRENCE, D.D.S.

DEAR DR. LAWRENCE: pink material, or poor placement of five years I've tried to get rid of my old dentures but I can't. I've tried borders, or over-wear been to many dentists and bite" which doesn't allow had many sets of teeth made, enough space between upper but always with the same results—they make me gag. I am at rest. These faults can be am a high-strung woman in easily corrected.

ANSWER: Gagging can be a disturbing problem for patients and dentists. Just as some people gag when simply thinking about a repugnant sight, taste or smell they've experienced, so some gag at the very thought of wearing dentures.

Reminds me of the patient whose gag reflex was so easily triggered she gagged at the sight of the impression tray coming toward her. Her dentist had to raise her foot from the foot rest, to fully extend it and hold it in that position.

In little more than a minute she was struggling to keep her foot up and she gasped she couldn't last more than another moment. That's the moment he took the impression.

If new dentures arouse gagging reflex, then they are probably at fault. However, the usual complaint that the upper denture is too long and extends too far back into the throat is rarely true. More common causes are crowding of the tongue because of thick gagging, a postnasal drip and thick saliva may add to a patient's discomfort. This condition can often be relieved by chewing gum or sucking mints.

When gagging arises in the mind it's more difficult to overcome and may involve emotional or environmental problems, menopausal disorders, excessive pressures at work or at home, physical exhaustion or debilitating disease. These problems suggest consultation with physician or psychiatrist.

Save Lives By 'Drownproofing'

A bit out of season but still of real interest is the report that parents can now teach children how to protect themselves from drowning by following the simple directions of a new wallet card issued by the U.S. Public Health Service. This technique is called "drownproofing" and can be learned by adults and youngsters who can't swim. The card is being distributed by the National Center for Urban and Industrial Health in cooperation with the American Red Cross.

"Drownproofing" consists of a series of arm and leg movements performed in the water by a person moving up and down instead of forward, as in swimming. If performed correctly drownproofing allows a person to survive for hours, even in rough water. The technique was devised by the late Fred Lanoue of Emory University in Atlanta.

The card contains other safety information for use around water and is called "Safety Tips In, out and around water." It may be obtained free in quantities of up to 100 by writing to the Injury Control Program, National Center for Urban and Industrial Health, 222 E. Central Pkwy., Cincinnati, Ohio, 45202. Our thought in passing on this safety tidbit is that various water safety groups will want to obtain copies for possible use in planning programs and projects for the coming year. — Jackson (Miss.) The Money Gap

We offer this bit of economic encouragement after several days of statistical research.

Earlier last week, news stories from Washington came forth with the bright message that it now takes $2,000 a year in income for an average family of four to live "moderately well." As is so often the case, the same story did not contain the equally important figure: How much does the average family of four actually earn of the ideal $2,000? Well, as best as we can determine at the moment, the figure is somewhere around $7,000.

That, as we see it, is about as good an explanation of the state of the national economy and the state of the pocketbook of that average father in a family of four as is available now. It takes $2,000 to do it "moderately well." The average guy is making $7,000. Now, for the economic advice about that missing $2,000: Happy hunting! — The Charlotte N.C. Observer

Parcel Going to Cuba Explodes

NEW YORK (AP) — A parcel addressed to Cuba exploded in a Manhattan post office Thursday night, injuring eight persons and shattering windows. It was the second time in a metropolitan area post office this week.

Last Monday five persons were injured, one seriously, when a carton exploded as it left a post office.

There were no serious injuries reported in the Thursday night blast.

Fire officials said the body-trapped package went off when it was tossed out a rolling cart by a mail sorter.

Mistake Made in Arresting Demonstrators

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York City Police Department says an "honest mistake" led to the seizure, interrogation and photographing of some 100 anti-war demonstrators Thursday before they were released without charge.

Jacques Nevead, a police police commissioner, said the group was seized across from the United Nations at the end of the three-hour protest because "some wires got crossed."

Demonstrators, who said they would be out on the streets for a fourth round of protests today, said they would file a number of false arrest suits against police with the aid of the New York Civil Liberties Union.

The Stop The Draft Week Committee coalition of 50 anti-war and civil rights groups sponsoring the protests was led again Thursday in its objective of closing down the armed forces induction center.

Outraged and infuriated by police, the 500 demonstrators sent only a token force to the heavily guarded center while the remaining elements spilled through the streets up to Times Square and the United Nations.

Although police took 400 persons into custody only 138 of those were formally charged, bringing the three-day arrest total to 112.

Pediatrician Dr. Benjamin Spock, who was arrested in the Tuesday demonstration joined the Civil Liberties Union later in protesting the police action during the day.

Against All Autos Ejecting Carbon

LOS ANGELES (AP) — City councilman Alvin Brande wants Los Angeles to refuse to buy any city automobiles that emit too much carbon monoxide, and the Los Angeles County air pollution control officer agrees.

Brande has urged the city to refuse to buy cars emitting more than 180 parts per million of hydrocarbons and one percent carbon monoxide. The limit set by state law are 275 parts and 1.5 percent.

Louis J. Fuller, the pollution control officer, said Thursday he'll recommend the same limits next week to the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors.

They Got Their Christmas Early

JACKMAN, Maine (AP) — The 2,000 residents of this northern Maine community and its hospital got an early Christmas present Thursday—a doctor.

It is the first time in 18 months the town has had a doctor-in-residence. The arrival of Dr. Peter V. Morrison, formerly of Bismarck, N.D., also means that the recently dedicated Marie Joseph Hospital can begin admitting patients.

Until Morrison arrived, residents used a hospital 50 miles away. They posted signs warning motorists to drive slowly because there was no doctor to treat them in case of accident.

Morrison, 36, is a native of England.

Can Do Better, Argument of Both Parties

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — "We can do it better."

This is the basic argument of Democrats and Republicans in any presidential election year, like 1968, but right now the Republicans are trying to figure out what it is they can do better.

They're under a handicap since they don't know what it's going to be like in 1968.

"Vice, Vandalism, and Vietnam" is one Republican's simplified answer for his party's campaign themes. It came from Rep. Bob Wilson of California, chairman of the GOP Congressional Campaign Committee.

It's too simplified since in politics one word leads to another and by the time the campaign is half over—and probably before it gets started—Republicans and Democrats will be off in all directions.

But the Republicans are busy trying to set up some starting points, at least.

Republican governors met at Palm Beach, Fla. today to begin some campaign planning session, with New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, who insists he's not a presidential candidate to report on an in-depth study of possible issues.

Last month at Gettysburg, Pa., former President Dwight D. Eisenhower met with a 15-member Republican task force on national defense policy to discuss GOP campaign tactics for next year.

Would-be Republican presidential candidates, like former Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Michigan's Gov. George Romney, have staffs busy charting strategy, getting ideas together, examining issues.

You don't have to be a mind-reader to know the Republicans are going to try to get as much mileage as they can out of the discontent over the war in Vietnam.

But on this, which may be the biggest issue, they're under a bit of a handicap starting out. Their main point, of course, will be the one contained in the first paragraph above.

Some insight into this was given Thursday by the two Republican leaders in Congress, Sen. Everett M. Dirksen and Rep. Gerald R. Ford.

They argued a new Republican president would be in a better position than President Johnson to settle the war, with Ford adding that a new administration could deal with Vietnam "with less of the hindrances of the past."

But Dirksen spoke again of GOP support for the Johnson administration's stand in Vietnam. And right here is where the Republicans' handicap comes in. They are going to be limited in what they can say about the war.

Since they're for the war, they can't complain about that. They can only complain about the details, the way it's being handled.

And they won't even have that for much of an issue if between now and the time the 1968 campaign starts Johnson has been able to force the North Vietnamese into wanting peace.

66 Killed in Peruvian Plane Crash

By DEAN JOHNSON

Associated Press Writer
HUANUCO, Peru (AP) — Searchers pulled burned and mud-smeared bodies today from jungle underbrush on the rim of the Andes Mountains where a Peruvian airliner crashed in flames Friday, killing everyone aboard. Sixty-seven persons, including four Americans, were believed on the flight.

The Faucett Airlines four-engine DC6 plowed low into the side of Cerro Carpiash mountain near midday, about 15 minutes after it took off from Huanuco with a load of holiday weekend passengers bound for the mountain resort of Tingo Maria.

The flight had stopped briefly at Huanuco en route from Lima, 155 miles to the north. Farmers who heard the crash later led police through thick vegetation to the wreckage scattered near a forest highway.

"Most of the bodies were burned and the others completely destroyed," said Col. Carlos Farje Allende, who led the first party to the shattered liner. Identification was difficult, he reported.

There was no explanation for the crash.

A spokesman for Faucett said the plane was believed to have carried 67 persons—six crew members, 45 passengers from Lima and 16 who boarded in Huanuco. Although all were booked to Tingo Maria, the airline said it had not determined if anyone left the plane here.

The aircraft was packed because of the Roman Catholic holiday of the Immaculate Conception. All stores and offices in the country were closed and many persons took advantage of the three-day weekend to travel.

Included in the passenger list were 17 foreigners — the four Americans, an English diplomat and his wife, four French nationals, two Belgians and five Italians.

The Americans were identified as Joseph Newman, 69, of 3054 Kishner Drive, Las Vegas, Nev.; Evelyn Craig, 47, and Robert and Corina Houk. No home addresses were available for the latter three.

The British Embassy identified the diplomat as John White, 40, the embassy's first secretary and consul. His wife, Vivian, was flying with him.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — When the director of the Weather Bureau's national hurricane center retires in January, his wife is going to get a break.

Gordon Dunn, thinking ahead about his days away from the office, said, "I'm going to help my wife put up the hurricane shutters. She's always had to do that by herself before."

Says Funds Not Distributed Fair

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — George Howard Jr., a Pine Bluff lawyer and chairman of the Citizens Action Committee of the Delta Sigma Lambda fraternity, said Thursday the organization would attempt to determine, through the courts, whether the practices of the United Fund violate federal law.

Howard said the social fraternity, would ask the NAACP to start legal action to end what it describes as racial discrimination in the annual Jefferson County United Fund campaign.

Howard said the committee took the action after the United Fund board of directors postponed a meeting between the two groups for the second time in recent weeks.

Howard said the fraternity wanted U. S. District Court to enjoin the United Fund from allocating money to agencies that maintain racial policies and a declaratory judgment to determine if the campaign is in violation of the 14th Amendment to the U. S. Constitution.

The fraternity contends that the annual charity campaign may violate federal laws or the constitutional rights of Negroes because it solicits from the public as well as both federal and state institutions.

A Warmhearted Dane Viet Cong Originated Idea of Seals at Christmas

By MARY ANITA LASETER

Star Feature Writer

This story has roots in several different places . . . a one-room cottage in the north woods . . . a post office worker in Denmark . . . a kindhearted lady in Wilmington, Del. . . the leading newspaper of a great American city . . . a ragged little newsboy . . . and millions of Americans, sharing through Christmas Seals in the crusade for a better life.

Far across the sea in Denmark a kindly man named Einar Holboell worked in the post office. Good-natured and fond of children, Einar was hurt by the suffering of others, and in 1904 while sorting the heavy Christmas mail, a thought struck him. Suppose people bought a special Christmas stamp with money derived from the sale used to help sick and needy children. Just a penny seal on each letter and package — he looked at the pile of mail — would bring in a lot of money. The warmhearted Dane took to the idea at once, and the stamps soon brought in enough money to build a children's tuberculosis hospital.

About the same time the first seals were winning support in Denmark, a group of doctors had built a small shack on the banks of the Brandywine River in Delaware to be used as a tuberculosis hospital. The patients seemed to respond to the rest-and-good-food method of treatment, but the funds to keep the hospital open were soon gone. Near the end of 1907 it looked like the Brandywine Shack would have to close. Just as all hope seemed gone, one of the doctors, Joseph Wales, thought of his cousin, Emily Bissell, a Red Cross worker interested in work at Brandywine and also experienced in raising money for good causes.

Dr. Wales said: "Emily, unless $300 can be raised somehow, the poor patients will be sent home to die. I hope you'll find a way. You've got to help us."

Miss Bissell agreed to help, but after her cousin left, she began to wonder. How in the world was she to raise money for a cause which most people had termed hopeless? Suddenly, she remembered reading about the Christmas stamps in Denmark. There was a way! If far-off Denmark could fight TB with Christmas Seals, Delaware, U.S.A., could do the same! Why not use a Christmas Seal to raise the $300 for the Brandywine Shack?

It was at this point that the work of the Danish postal worker, the needs of the Brandywine patients, and the faith and courage of Miss Bissell joined together to form the main stream of one of the greatest health crusades in history.

That was 60 years ago. Christmas 1907 was near. There was much to be done . . . no time to be lost. Miss Bissell set to work without delay. People laughed at the idea! Prettier seals were for sale at a tenth of the cost, they said. Besides, who ever heard of raising money a penny at a time?

When the sale of the first Christmas Seals began several weeks before Christmas, Miss Bissell bought the first ones. A few others bought them, too, but the first day's sale came to only $25. The next two days were about the same. Miss Bissell knew something more would have to be done if the needed $300 was to be raised.

What did she do? To whom did she turn? A great newspaper and a little boy played the next roles in this drama. More about it next week.

2 Juveniles Arrested for Burglary

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — Two juveniles arrested for the burglary of an electronics shop provided police with ready-made confessions.

The loot included two tape recorders. After they were stolen, the thieves wanted to make sure they worked. So they tested them.

Instead of the usual "1-2-3-4 testing," they said, "Our names are so-and-so and we just stole two tape recorders."

The youths' protestations of innocence quickly vanished when officers played back the tape to them.

Suit Aimed at Preventing Disorders

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The school board has won a seven-day court battle aimed at preventing a repeat of a Black Power protest that erupted in disorder at the school administration building Nov. 17.

Common Pleas Judge Alexander F. Barbieri issued an order Thursday barring two Negro leaders from organizing, promoting or in any way encouraging demonstrations at public schools during school hours.

The two, Walter Palmer, head of the Black People's Unity Movement, and William Mathis, local resident of the Congress of Racial Equality, were alleged by police to be among the organizers of the Nov. 17 rally.

Excuse for the Violation

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — An insurance executive had the perfect excuse for avoiding an overtime parking citation Thursday—the meter arrived there after he did.

The anonymous driver parked his car in front of a business at 9:30 a.m. to make a quick trip to the store. At 9:32, a city employee erected a parking meter at the space. At 9:34, a meter maid began issuing a parking ticket.

The meter maid relented after the executive explained the predicament.

Viet Cong Mauled in Mekong Delta

By GEORGE MCARTHUR

Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese soldiers fighting in the heat and mud of the Mekong Delta badly mauled a Viet Cong force of about 1,500 men and won the greatest one-day battle of the delta war, military headquarters said today.

The battle against three Viet Cong battalions began Friday morning and cost the enemy 365 dead before the day was out. During the night, the Viet Cong slipped from the battlefield in small units but after sunrise today turned again to fight closely pursuing South Vietnamese rangers.

Only sketchy details, and no casualty figures, were available on today's fighting.

Initial battle reports said 60 government soldiers were killed and 102 wounded Friday before the enemy was encircled by armored columns and pinned down after being flushed from the sanctuary of the U-Minh forest 100 miles south of Saigon.

Three American advisers with the Vietnamese troops were reported wounded. Normally about three Americans accompany a South Vietnamese battalion on field operations.

The U.S. Military Assistance Command Vietnam (MACV) was exultant over the showing of the frequently criticized South Vietnamese army. Today's MACV communique said, "the ARVN (Army of the Republic of Vietnam) had a smashing victory in the delta yesterday. It was the biggest single day in delta history."

The communique said no American ground units were involved, although American pilots flew more than half the day's 50 air strikes that accounted for about one-quarter of the Viet Cong casualties.

The South Vietnamese troops came from the 21st Division, one of the army's best rated units, and a reserve striking force of rangers. At the peak of the fight there were about five South Vietnamese battalions in the battle—about 2,500 men.

They were pitted against veteran Viet Cong units that evidently had been flushed out recently by young recruits. South Vietnamese headquarters reported that many of the Viet Cong bodies found on the battlefield appeared to be those of 13- to 15-year-old boys.

Dr. Sheppard Would Join Peace Corps

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Peace Corps said today that Samuel H. Sheppard, Cleveland osteopath who served 10 years in prison but later was acquitted of second degree murder charges in the death of his first wife, has volunteered for Peace Corps duty.

A spokesman for the corps said the application was received late last week and is being processed. This normally requires about eight weeks.

Sheppard did not limit his application to volunteer work in his professional field, as an osteopathic physician, the spokesman said. He added that the corps attempts to fit an individual's skills to the particular needs of an assignment involved in a nation's request for aid.

If Sheppard has skills that would seem to fit the needs of a volunteer job he then would be considered for training.

(AP) — Osceola Mayor Charlie Wiggul, a car dealer, and the six-member city council were charged Thursday in a taxpayers suit with violating city ordinances by doing business with the city. The suit was filed in Mississippi Chancery Court on behalf of Wendal Stovall of Osceola. The councilmen named were three insurance men, R. E. Pre-witt, Ray Morgan and Ed Chisenhall. Garner Robins, a real estate agent; D. N. Morris, owner of a hardware store; and Ed Teaford, an electrical engineer.
